Modals (also called modal verbs, modal auxiliary verbs, modal auxiliaries) are special verbs which behave irregularly in English. They are different from normal verbs like "work, play, visit..." They give additional information about the function of the main verb that follows it. They have a great variety of communicative functions. Modals are also those helping verbs, which express the ‘mode’ or ‘manner’ of the actions indicated by the main verbs. They express modes such as ability, possibility, probability, permission, obligation, etc. The most commonly used modals are shall, should, will, would, can, could, may, might, must, ought to, used to, need and dare. Here are some characteristics of modal verbs:

- They never change their form. You can't add "s", "ed", "ing"...
- They are always followed by an infinitive without "to" (e.i. the bare infinitive.)
- They are used to indicate modality allow speakers to express certainty, possibility, willingness, obligation, necessity, ability

List of modal verbs

Here is a list of modal verbs:

- can, could, may, might, will, would, shall, should, must
The verbs or expressions dare, ought to, had better, and need not behave like modal auxiliaries to a large extent and may be added to the above list.

Use of modal verbs:

Modal verbs are used to express functions such as:

1) Ask permission—may, can, could.

   Examples: May I come in?, Could I use your pen, please?

2) Make a request—can, could.

   Example: Could you please give me the doctor’s telephone number?

3) Express a possibility—may, might, could.

   Example: It might rain during the night.

4) Give advice or suggestion—should.

   Example: You should wear a helmet while riding your motorbike.

5) Express necessity or compulsion—must, have to.

   Examples: We must slow down while driving in front of a school, I have to submit my project by tomorrow.

6) Express prohibition.

   Example: You must not talk loudly in the library.

7) Express a promise or intention—will, shall.

   Example: I will mail you my address.

8) Express a wish—may.

   Example: May you have a long life!

REMEMBER !

(1) A modal does not change according to the number or person of the subject.

Examples: He can learn, I can learn, You can learn, They can learn, We can learn.
(2) A modal is always used with a verb in its basic form. The modal takes the tense while the main verb remains in its dictionary form.

Examples: I can run, I may run, I could run, I might run.

(3) Modals can be used alone in response to a question.

Examples: Can you sing? I can.

Will you sing? I will.

Will you come? I may./I will.

(4) Modals, when joined with ‘not’ to form a negative, can be contracted.

Examples: I cannot run. I can’t run.

I do not run. I don’t run.

I will not run. I won’t run.

(5) Modal verbs are followed by an infinitive without "to", also called the bare infinitive.

Examples: You must stop when the traffic lights turn red.

You should see the doctor.

There are a lot of tomatoes in the fridge. You need not buy any.
